Independents Now Refuse to Bend to Government Verdict

Plan of Premier Oliver to Curtail Discussion in Legislature Meets With Opposition From Minority—Effort to Rush Through Debate Not Taken Kindly by Cross-Benchers

POINTS OF ORDER ONLY HOLD UP PROGRESS

EVIDENCE that the desire of the Government to rush through the present session of the Provincial Legislature is doomed to disappointment was shown yesterday afternoon when the expressed desire of the Premier to limit the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne met its first opposition at the hands of the Independent members of the House. For weeks past it has been announced that the Government proposed to curtail the sittings of the House. The wishes of the Conservative opposition and the Independent members, apparently, were not taken into consideration. In fact, there have been rumors that to achieve its aim the Government was prepared to railroad through the business and see to it that the members were back home by Christmas.

Auto Demolished and Street Car Damaged When South Vancouver Man Miscalculates Speed of Street Car

SOUTH VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—John McEvilly Ferguson of this town, aged 25, was killed last night when his automobile crashed into a street car. His automobile was demolished in the impact and the street car was damaged. Ferguson suffered the loss of one eye while fighting in France. Apparently he miscalculated the speed of the street car.

EXCITEMENT IS EXPECTED NOW

Announcement That Former Premier Has Nominated Candidates in All Conservative Constituencies

The Alberto deferral election campaign probably will begin tomorrow, or on Saturday, a Donnybrook fall, tomorrow. The fight between Mr. Lloyd George and Premier Andrew Bonar Law has become more bitter. Out of six Cabinet posts announced tonight, Mr. Bonar Law has chosen three avowed "die-hards," and out of the twenty under-secretaries, six are avowed "die-hards" and seven are "moderates." After the first fight against Lloyd George candidates is being pressed, and the announcement that Mr. Lloyd George has taken up the gage of battle by nominating Lloyd Georgeian candidates in all the Conservative constituencies is expected tomorrow. One of the symptoms is the bitterness of the feud which has opened between Lloyd Birkenhead and Colonel Leslie Wilson. In the old days it would have called for pistols. Now it is confined to deadly parallel columns in the newspapers in which each side highly personal questions.

Attacks Colonel Wilson

Lloyd Birkenhead says that Colonel Wilson, as the whip, betrayed the leader when without warning he spoke out against Mr. Austen Chamberlain at the historic Carlton Club meeting.

Though the appointment of Mr. Neville Chamberlain, brother of Austen Chamberlain, as Postmaster-General, is interpreted as an effort to placate the Chamberlain wing of the party, every one of the under-secretaries is either a peer or a "die-hard," or both.

Measures stand, as far as the formal invitation to Mr. Lloyd George apparently have come to a gentlemen's agreement, though there is no formal pact to let Bonar Law control the House of Commons with Lloyd George's assistance, heading the only group combination with which they can constitute a majority.

ONLY OBSERVERS AT PEACE CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The American Government in notes delivered today to the British, French and Italian Embassies here formally declined to participate in the Near East peace conference scheduled to be held in Lausanne, Switzerland, next month. Later, the State Department made public this Government's position on the conference.

The formal replies, like the formal invitations, were directly worded and explained that the United States would send only observers to the meeting, and added that the conference was primarily a peace conference to end a war in which the United States was not a belligerent.

Superintendent Killed

BURKE, Idaho, Oct. 31.—Michael E. Welch, superintendent of the Hercules Mine here, was killed today while coming to the surface in the mine hoist. It is believed that a piece of iron pipe from a quantity of mine equipment that was being carried in the hoist struck him in the head.

CANADIAN COAL OUTPUT SINKS

Increase for Month of July Greater Than Preceding Month, But Below Average of Previous Years

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—The output of coal from Canadian mines during the month of July, 1922, increased approximately 47,000 tons or six per cent above the production for the preceding month, which totalled in all to 858,000 tons. In spite of the increase the output fell short of the average record for the same month in the three preceding years by 303,000 tons, or 10 per cent, according to a statement issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics today.

Considered in relation to the three years for which there are figures for the first seven months of the calendar year, the output this year was less by 1,128,000 tons, or 14 per cent.

There was a considerable revival in the export trade and a total of 343,000 tons was cleared for foreign destinations, compared with 30,000 tons in the preceding month.

PROHIBITION VIEWS OF CANDIDATES ASKED

National Liberals Declare Ability to Put Forward 150 More Candidates if Unduly Interfered With by Conservatives

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Tonight's press revision of the list of the candidates already in the field shows 452 Conservatives, 170 National Liberals, 308 Independent Liberals, 410 Laborites and 33 women running under various banners.

Premier Bonar Law tonight issued the list of the remaining offices of the Government in which there is again a fair infusion of members of the House of Lords. His appointment of a Minister of Pensons does not necessarily mean that he has yielded to the Laborite clamor against the proposed abolition of that ministry, but is considered more likely merely a token appointment to carry on the work until the ministry can be abolished by legislative act.

Agitation against abolition of the Pensions Ministry, however, is gathering force.

Pension Ministry

Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill sent a letter to his constituents today, strongly opposing abolition of the ministry and expressing the hope that Bonar Law will give full consideration to the proposal, otherwise Mr. Churchill declares, he will resist this decision in parliament. In the same letter, Mr. Churchill recounts a number of large economies which the late government was contemplating, largely on his recommendations, amounting to nearly £10,000,000 annually, which were prevented by the overthrow of the government.

Incidentally, Mr. Churchill mentions that the economies included £16,000,000 on naval estimates, but regretted to say that these economies were obstinately opposed by Lieutenant-Colonel L. C. M. S. Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty, in the cabinet, who was then the Financial Secretary to the Admiralty.

He adds that Col. Amery took a leading part in the revolt of the under-secretaries, which led to the overthrow of the government and declared:

"I view with disquietude the fact that this junior minister stepped into the shoes of his chief, which is certainly an unwholesome spectacle."

The former Colonial Secretary, who is still providing effective electioneering points, remarks how disappointing in the declaration of the new Chancellor of the Exchequer, the reduction of taxation is impossible, when all the projected economies have been hindered by the change of government.

Bitterness Increases

Meanwhile the campaign is increasing in bitterness. The events of the last few days prove that the old

WOULD NOT TOLERATE ANOTHER COALITION

Whatever House is Elected, It Could Not Be As Bad as the Last, Says Mr. Asquith

PAISLEY, Scotland, Oct. 31.—Right Hon. H. H. Asquith, former Premier, addressed his constituents here tonight after he had been named as candidate for Parliament. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Mr. Asquith was received with enthusiasm. He declared that the House of Commons would live in history as a parliament of subservience. Mr. Lloyd George, he said, was passing over many of the ideals he had espoused.

Mr. Asquith was received with enthusiasm. He declared that the House of Commons would live in history as a parliament of subservience. Mr. Lloyd George, he said, was passing over many of the ideals he had espoused.

Brains of the Coalition

After four years of Coalition, no post-war problem, either international or domestic, had been solved with the single exception of the Irish question.

Mr. Lloyd George, with his little cohort of followers, he asserted, had carried off the brains of the Coalition concern.

Mr. Asquith said that whatever House of Commons was elected, it could not be as bad as the one which had just been laid about in a fit of mourning into an unhonored grave.

Mr. Asquith then proceeded to make the fullest use of Premier Bonar Law's phrase: "I don't know where I am." The former Premier said this applied to all supporters of the Coalition.

They were saying disagreeable things about one another and making hostilities and threatening preserves for invading their own political preserves.

He concluded by asserting that the country would not tolerate another Coalition.

BUILDING TO BE WORTH MILLION

Permits Issued So Far This Year Represent Outlay Almost Equal to Total for Twelve Months of 1921

Building expenditure in Victoria this year is expected to surpass the million-dollar mark for the first time since the war, which was given out yesterday at the City Hall by Building Inspector James Barf, showing that during the month of October forty-six separate permits for building were issued, representing a total expenditure of $57,245 for the month.

The October report bring the total for the year to $344,148. In the returns fell just short of the million-dollar mark, being $377,176. With two months yet to go, it is practically a certainty that Victoria's outlay for construction this year will be over $1,000,000.

In October, the building authority was valued at slightly more than the war, which was $35,455, but there were fewer permits, thirty-six. This year's record was well ahead of 1920, because in October of that year the cost represented by building permits was only $36,370, or more than $20,000 less.

Building is now in progress in nearly all sections of the city, reported the Chamber of Commerce Building, being erected on the site of the old Arcade Building, will be ready for occupancy during the first week in December. ## EMERGENCY TARIFF AVERTED PRICE FALL

Through Short Sales in England Many Canadian Wheat Producers Marketed Crop in United States

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The emergency tariff law containing a duty of 35 cents a bushel on wheat has affected only the trade in Northern Spring wheat produced in the upper Mississippi and Missouri Valleys in competition with Canadian wheat of the same grade. According to a formal statement made public today by the United States tariff commission. In explaining this, a statement issued by the commission says: "Large quantities of other varieties of wheat are exported from this country, therefore, an import duty has little effect upon their prices. These usually consist of domestic Hard Spring wheat for blending purposes, however, and to the extent that the emergency law reduced somewhat the imports of this variety of wheat, the duty had some effect on prices. England did not purchase the normal portion of Canadian wheat in 1921-22, with the result that many Canadian producers were forced to market their crop in the United States over the tariff wall. How much lower the American price would have been had Canadian wheat been admitted free of duty is uncertain."

Prevented Fall

"In general the effect of the tariff" was held by the commission to "have prevented, as great a fall in prices as might otherwise have come rather than to increase the values of thirty commodities covered."

The effects of the tariff on cattle, beef and veal could not be definitely ascertained. The commission reported, however, that there is some indication that Chicago prices of cattle declined less rapidly than did Toronto prices on practically the same grades after the enactment of the law.

The law was said to have relieved the situation in the wool-growing industry by removing a strained credit situation, and causing millers to use domestic rather than imported stocks.

The Steel End Company has secured the contract for hauling the mail between Quesnel and Prince George and has sublet it to W. V. Livingston, who also has the mail contract between Quesnel and Barkerville. The motorboat Roderick C. O. F. Browne, handles the mail during the Summer months, making the last trip of the season on Saturday.

Fred McLeod, who has driven the mail car and horse stage on this end for the last few years, will be sadly missed in town and along the road where his coming was always an event.

Construction Work Eases Unemployment

Operation of Lumber Camps and Mines Throughout Province Will Relieve Situation

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—The prospect of the operation of lumber camps and mines in many sections of British Columbia throughout the Winter will greatly relieve the unemployment situation, according to J. H. McVeity, superintendent of the Provincial Employment Bureau.

"While there will certainly be a number of men out of work this Winter, the situation promises to be much better than during last Winter," said Mr. McVeity.

Construction of a new plant at Britannia Mines and at Kimberley, B.C., has employed a number of men, while smaller mining operations have kept laborers busy. At present there is no surplus of skilled miners, which is a healthy sign, both from an employment standpoint and as an indication of the development of the Province.

ADVISES WOMEN TO SEEK PUBLIC OFFICES

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—"Don't be afraid of being called a shivering sister or a blue stocking; when women want anything now they have to talk and say what they think," was the advice given by Judge Emily Murphy, magistrate of the Juvenile court, Edmonton, to the Montreal Women's Club yesterday. All positions in Canada from Framers down were open to women, but women could not be found "to go and possess the land."

Judge Murphy was tendered a reception at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel last evening by the Montreal branch of the Canadian Authors' Association and the Montreal Women's Press Club.

Montreal exhibitors sent over 27 lots of six boxes each and took 21 medals, with cash prizes totalling $76.

FIFTEEN MILLIONS IS USED IN BOOTLEGGING

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31.—More than $15,000,000 changed hands in a little more than a year in the alleged transfer of 80,000 gallons of alcohol by Louis and Abraham Auerbach and others. It was revealed today when the trial of the four associates entered pleas of not guilty to indictments charging conspiracy to evade the prohibition laws.

The Government alleges the men withdrew alcohol for manufacture and then sold it to bootleggers.

CONSTRUCTION WORK EASES UNEMPLOYMENT

Operation of Lumber Camps and Mines Throughout Province Will Relieve Situation

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—The prospect of the operation of lumber camps and mines in many sections of British Columbia throughout the Winter will greatly relieve the unemployment situation, according to J. H. McVeity, superintendent of the Provincial Employment Bureau.

"While there will certainly be a number of men out of work this Winter, the situation promises to be much better than during last Winter," said Mr. McVeity.

Construction of a new plant at

Britannia Mines and at Kimberley,

B.C., has employed a number of men, while smaller mining operations have kept laborers busy. At present there is no surplus of skilled miners, which is a healthy sign, both from an employment standpoint and as an indication of the development of the Province.

HALLOWEEN SPIRIT AT KIWANIAN LUNCH

Special decorations for occasions—Members Pledge Support for Community Chest Drive

Kiwani decorations were a special feature of the Kiwanian Club's luncheon yesterday in the Dominion Hotel, the dining-room and tables being brightened with the familiar orange and black which was appreciatively commented upon by the members. The attendance was large, and the atmosphere gay when the Spirit of Hallowe'en came forward, dressed in sheet and armed with broom, to take numbers from a hat. Kiwanian H. F. Hewlett was the winner, and received the prize from the mysterious individual in white, who, in a apocalyptic tone, introduced himself, and, sawing his bowstring in half, produced from the hollowed shaft a piece of paper money which he presented to the lucky Kiwanian.

Vice-President Kenneth Ferguson announced that a committee had been active in ascertaining the possibility of holding a Kiwanian minstrel show early in the year in aid of the Kiwanian Club Fund, and in making arrangements for the same. It would move that the club endorse the proposal for such an entertainment. The gathering unanimously approved of the resolution, and Kiwanian Ferguson then stated that the first rehearsal would take place in the Veterans of France rooms, Douglas Street, on the second Monday in November.

President Will Spencer announced that a golf tournament between teams captained by himself and the vice-president, respectively, would commence today.

Kiwani Colonel Lorna Ross, secretary of the Community Chest, had the members sign cards pledging their support in the securing of the necessary funds for the chest which are to be obtained by a drive in the near future.

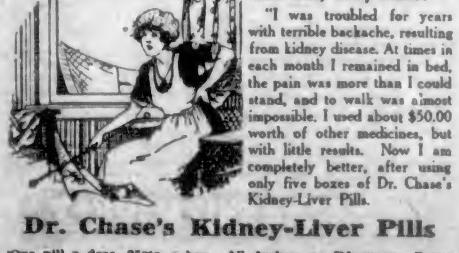

Kiwani Walter Maguire, who was in Port Angeles recently, reported on the success of the Kiwanian attended meeting venturing of the Port Angeles Kiwanis Club in connection with the gymnasium which the organization has built for the high school there, and which is used as a community centre outside of school hours.

A delightful surprise was sprung on the members in the form of a delegation by Dr. Chase's Kidney Disease Clinic consisting of Kiwanian Cecil Heaton, pianist; Kiwanian Hinton, cellist; and Kiwanian Austin Curtis, violinist.

FAIL TO EQUAL FORMER RECORD

High-Water Mark in Civic Registration Reached Yesterday, Making Aggregate Enrollment 1,798

Registration for the civic voters' list was terminated yesterday, with a total enrollment of 1,798. Yesterday's aggregate was 297, the largest for a single day since registration commenced on October 1.

Although the list is to be at the municipal election in December will be one of the largest in the city's history, as a result of the returns of last month, the total number of houses and licences registered is not as large as last year, 2,670 were signed. The difference is 272, although it is estimated by City Clerk E. W. Bradley, who has been in charge of the registration, that more householders were enrolled this year than ever before.

Notaries were busy combining the city yesterday for people who had neglected to get their names on the record during the early stages of the campaign, and the substantial last-day total indicates the success they met with. The offices of P. R. Brown & Sons, were used as Gyro Club registration headquarters.

DICTATOR IS NEEDED FOR NATIONAL LINES

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—In the Canadian National system Canada has one of her biggest potential assets," remarked Sir William Mackenzie today. "Their possibilities are immense."

"Can Sir Henry Thornton make them pay?" he was asked. "I could turn them into an asset within five years if we could find the men to do it. If he is a dictator, and I think he is, he is the man who built so much of the system. 'What the National system needs is a dictator,' emphasized Sir William. 'A man who will go ahead and do things, irrespective of politics. He has been given a free hand and must see that he insists on retaining it.'

WANT NEW ELEVATOR

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—If the city's charter will permit it, and the electors endorse the expenditure by the sum of $50,000 towards the cost, Vancouver will have a new freight elevator next year, to help handle grain for shipment overseas through the port of Vancouver. Ald. F. E. Woods at today's City Council meeting gave notice of a by-law to be submitted to the people next month, providing for the expenditure of half a million dollars, or one-half of the cost of a grain elevator of from $50,000 to $500,000 bushels capacity. The balance of the amount necessary to build and equip the structure could be raised among the business men of the city, the alderman stated.

MAYOR AND ALDERMEN ELECT SPEEDY TRIAL

Charge of Illegal Payment to Be Heard in County Court on Tuesday

Mayor William Merchant and Aldermen E. S. Woodward, David Leesing and R. H. Johnson, appeared before His Honor Judge Lampman in the County Court yesterday, and elected trial by judge without a jury, on the charge of disobeying the Municipal Act by sanctioning payment of $100 traveling expenses to Police Commissioner Walter S. Blanden.

Mr. J. W. Dixie, departmental solicitor in the office of the Attorney-General, appeared for the Crown; and Messrs. D. Tait and H. W. Davey for the defendants. Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., who appeared for the prosecution, told the court he was the sole counsel for the city police court, from which the defendant was remitted for trial by Magistrate Gay last Monday, was not in court yesterday; nor was Mr. George Murphy, of the Ratepayers' Protective Association, the informant in the case.

The appearance of Mr. Dixie occasioned no surprise, in view of the fact that Mr. J. S. Brandon, who originally appears for the Crown in the case, Asstine Codrte, is in this case presiding over the trial.

"The defendants elect for speedy trial by Your Honor," said Mr. Dixie, when the Judge had formally seated the lengthy charge to the accused Mayor and aldermen. The defendants individually confirmed this decision, when the question was put to them direct by the Judge.

AID TO INDUSTRIES

The future prosperity of Victoria rests to a great extent on the development of Vancouver Island industries and the making of those industries tributary to this city. When this is realized and practical steps are taken to overcome existing handicaps there will be an era of prosperity ahead. We are informed that the citizens of this community have something like $30,000,000 in the savings accounts of the banks, drawing three and sometimes four per cent. There is no doubt that under proper guarantees of industrial development some of this money would be diverted to more lucrative investments which would bring it into circulation, provide payrolls and lead to growing business activity. It is simply a question of enterprise. It is necessary to canvass fully the resources of Vancouver Island, ascertain under what conditions development can be engineered and the possibilities of putting our manufactured products in competition with those from other points. There is the home market that is not now fully supplied with local products.

The lumber business on the Island has not been so active for many years. There is an average of something like 1,000 carloads of lumber being carried from Island mills each month over the E. & N. Railway. This lumber is being shipped to many points; and chiefly, we believe, to Eastern Canada. Up-Island communities are benefiting very extensively by this trade and they are looking forward to the mills operating throughout the winter. The demand is such that there are good prospects of the logging camps remaining open all the time unless the weather grows too severe. That is a healthy indication of Island trade in one of the great natural resources we possess.

Speaking locally one of the handicaps lying in the way of industrial development is the lack of any municipal policy for aiding industries. There is no doubt industries would be started here were there definite privileges given. The city has a very large quantity of reverted lands lying idle and producing no revenue. This fact alone opens up a prospect of municipal aid to industrial undertakings which should not be overlooked. No one suggests that industrial firms should be given privileges to establish here to go into competition with industries already putting out the same products, but enjoying no municipal aid. That would be unfair. The suggestion is that new industries should be induced to open up, under fostering conditions, such as the provision of free sites, possibly tax exemption for a number of years, and, perhaps, in some instances, the provision of light and power at nominal charges.

The city has no policy in respect to municipal aid to industries. It is not enough to discuss what might be done in the event of such and such an industry being persuaded to operate in this locality. The thing to do is to map out a programme such as has made other communities lives of industry. With such a programme of inducement we believe that citizens would invest in the industrial development of Victoria and district. In order to find out what could be done in this respect the trade products bureau, so often suggested in these columns, should be formed. We have advocated this organization to include the whole of Vancouver Island and it would be necessary to have it this way for the desire is to develop resources in such a manner that not only Victoria but the whole Island will benefit. So long as there is delay in taking steps of a practical character leading to development so long will prosperity be arrested. The question is largely under what conditions will the people of this city and of Vancouver Island as a whole invest in their own resources? It is the duty of public-spirited citizens to ascertain, first, what the resources are, and, secondly, how they can be best developed. Thirdly, and equally important, is the policy which should be adopted of aiding industries in a municipal sense.

CIVIC PATRIOTISM

Much credit is due to the Gyro Club for being instrumental in placing nearly 1,800 new names on the municipal voters' list. From now on that organization should receive steadfast support in insuring that there is a substantial turnout of voters on election day next month. There will be issues before the people of more than average interest. There will be greater rivalry for municipal office than, perhaps, ever before. Apart from these considerations there could be no healthier sign of a renewed civic patriotism than would be illustrated by an emphasis laid on the voters' appreciation of the duty of exercising the franchise. There is no known reason, except apathy, why from 8,000 to 10,000 votes should not be polled at Victoria's municipal election. What a tribute it would be to civic patriotism if such a result could be secured. It would mean, we are persuaded, the opening of a new chapter in municipal prosperity, for it would spell the awakening, in a new sense, of civic pride.

People should get out of the habit of only interpreting municipal affairs in the light of how they affect their own individual business enterprises. There are larger ways in which civic development should be viewed. Selfishness betrays a poor spirit. What will benefit the greatest number is that towards which the citizens should strive, knowing full well that the with widest prosperity the greater will be results accruing to each individual. Where there are burdens weighing unduly on any particular section of the community they should be lightened. Future progress depends on a readjustment in the outlook, and that can be brought about by all our citizens taking an intelligent interest in municipal administration and working harmoniously so that its weaknesses may be eliminated.

Our City Councils are always keenly susceptible to public opinion and that is one of the powerful safeguards in our form of municipal government. What is wanted is the exercise of that public opinion and not only the expression of 20 per cent, or less of it, at the polls. When our elected representatives are elected by a majority of those entitled to vote then we will have representative municipal government in every sense of the term. That is, we believe, the aim of the Gyro Club. It is an aim which, if accomplished, will bring in its train many benefits for this municipality, for civic patriotism has never yet been evidenced here to the extent that it ought to be.

GERMAN REPARATIONS

Under the change of Government in Great Britain it is undoubtedly that the question of German reparations will be viewed from a new angle. In this connection it is significant that Mr. Reginald McKenna, one of the chief financial figures in Britain, has given his support to Mr. Bonar Law and it is not at all unlikely that his advice will carry weight in the matter of what Britain's future attitude will be on the subject of these reparations. The situation at present can be briefly outlined. The German debt for reparations is $32,000,000,000. Up to date Germany has paid in money and in property altogether to the value of about $2,000,000,000, so that the balance owing is $30,000,000,000. The question is how much of this German debt is now, and under what conditions. Mr. McKenna points out in discussing the subject that most of Germany's foreign investments have gone, that her shipping has been largely confiscated and that she has been deprived of some of her most productive areas, such as Alsace-Lorraine, the Saar Basin and the Polish provinces. The sources, therefore, whence on exportable surplus might have been drawn have been greatly impaired if not wholly destroyed.

Mr. McKenna is firmly convinced that at no time was Germany's exportable surplus sufficient to enable her to make the annual payments demanded under the London Ultimatum and that she certainly cannot do so today. He points out that of the sum in reparations already paid $1,645,000,000 has represented ships, coal and other payments in kind, principally in ceded territories and local payments to Armies of Occupation. The amount that has been paid in cash is $375,000,000. This cash payment has reduced the value of the mark almost to vanishing point, and, to all intents and purposes, Germany is now in the throes of a financial crash.

Mr. McKenna's conclusion is that Germany has no present capacity to obtain a surplus from her export of goods. Her export trade is confronted with the opposition of the whole manufacturing interest of the rest of the world and can only be successfully countered by a general lowering of the standard of life. This is exactly what the people in other countries wish to avoid.

Mr. McKenna believes that Germany can pay something. She has some foreign assets still, both in investments and balances in foreign banks, and he believes these could be sold to the German Government who could hand them over to the Reparations Commission. The German Government, however, he points out, could not force a compulsory sale, and in any case these assets are probably not much over $1,000,000,000. The result of the payment of this sum, which Mr. McKenna believes should lead to an abandonment of any attempt to secure further repayment payments for a period of three years, would be that the whole world would be a gather in the general stabilization of exchanges which would ensue upon the arrest in the fall of the mark.

The economic rehabilitation of Europe is being held back by the state of Germany's finances and there is a good prospect that this will be recognized to the full by the Conservative Government in Britain. Heretofore the attitude of France has proved a stumbling block. The viewpoint in Paris can be both understood and appraised. The circumstances which make it impossible for Germany to pay the annual instalments demanded by the Reparations Commission are becoming more emphatic all the time, and will soon be apparent to everybody by the rapidly disappearing value of the mark. The situation is one that must be handled in a broad spirit of statesmanship, and, in the premises, the suggestion put forward by Mr. McKenna seems logical. The main difficulty will be in persuading France to adopt this viewpoint.

Science and the Soul

Sir.—Dr. E. A. Hall in a lecture on Friday night to the Fellowship of Applied Psychology made a statement to the effect that science could find no line of differentiation between what we call spiritual and material. I would like to ask the doctor if anyone else who can answer, if that is so does it not necessarily follow that any action started either in the physical or mental must act and react upon the whole?

The possibilities of this seem to me very far-reaching, and I should be very glad to learn more. I should be glad to listen to Dr. Hall again.

Sir.—I should imagine the term "accident" is misleading when applied to the shooting of a deer. According to another person, due to the discharge of a loaded firearm at an unseen target, by a careless hunter. Mishaps like that are not contingent with the proper handling of rifle or gun, by a sportsman who has formed the habit of deliberately seeing what he is about to shoot, himself, and indeed in the way of the name I am after. It is not safe to assume broadly that every healthy adult of normal sanity can be trusted with a loaded gun, for even one lapes towards carelessness stamps him at once as dangerous. It therefore follows, a negligent or careless person should not be allowed to run around with a deadly dangerous weapon.

Now, murderous as instrument a shotgun, in the possession of an over-eager and exalted hunter, may be was brought home to me, some twenty years ago, when a brother autubal of mine was killed in an African jungle, by the guide who accompanied him. The guide was shot and then, in a fit of rage, fired into the thicket which he supposed contained a deer. He had seen nothing, but blazed at the house made by his companion; and this notwithstanding the fact, the locality literally teemed with deer, which could have been hung at leisure. The guide, an estimable man in many ways, was a hunting companion, part of his friends, and now-a-days when I hear of these many so-called shooting "accidents" I sometimes wonder if the master of temperament does not play a great deal on the fire's part.

The trouble with us in B. C. seems to be that some of those who hunt are not trained sportsmen. What only attests to the inexperienced novice is to bring home a full bag; the sporting element of giving the hunted creature a chance for its life, being sadly lacking. This deficiency is mainly responsible for so much random shooting. A wished to beat B's total, he becomes excited, fires at anything he sees, everything with the last and irreconcilable of lustre. His vanity prompts him to try for numerical honors over his companion, his head is not cool, and not having the true sportsman's instinct, he shoots wildly. This picture is only one phase of the situation, however, and is given as one of the most probable causes of so many "accidents."

It might be a good thing if would-be sportsmen realized the responsibility they shoulder when they sail forth with a gun or rifle. To expert sportsmen and hunters this responsibility is second nature, and they are careful; but the man who feels like potting at something shot at the last moment can, in a desire to prove himself included. Without training he will never get beyond the stage of "would-be." He is a novice who may not know the value of self-discipline, may have an unsuitable temperament as a hunter, may indeed possess none of the qualities or qualifications so necessary to control himself and his high-tight dangerous death-dealing weapon.

Like everything else worth knowing the individual who desires to hunt should have some knowledge of the sport. He can never learn too much about it, and the only practical way to learn is by serving an apprenticeship under an experienced sportsman. There are many men and boys that can only be picked up by association with the expert; and not until the pupil is considered proficient, should he be given a diploma or permit to go hunting. Many a boy has reached a certain age, should not by itself be considered sufficient for anyone to hold a shooting or game license. Age should be looked upon merely as one of many determining factors when judging an individual's fitness to be clothed with an authority to carry a gun or rifle in the open. The qualities that go to make a carol and successful sportsman are not thrown in to term an "accident."

For the protection of the genuine sportsman, for the general safeguarding of human lives in our game areas, I would therefore suggest that: (a) All sporting guns and rifles in the province be registered, and the nearest Provincial Government agent to be registered and legibly and permanently stamped on a metal part with a serial number. The numbers to be kept in a record book at the head office of the chief of Provincial police in the same way the ownership of motor vehicles is recorded. (b) Rifles and shotguns to be fitted with a marked weapons or certificate by constable or game warden, that (1) the owner possesses a temperament which entitles him to be considered a safe person to carry a weapon at all times under control, and (2) that he is an experienced hunter. Any citizen who cannot be vouchsed for as above to be denied his arms until necessary certificate is forthcoming. If, say, at the end of five years he cannot produce a certificate he will absolutely and forever lose all claim to a rifle or gun which will then be confiscated.

(c) Dealers in firearms to be prohibited making sales without the written authority of the Provincial chief of police, who will satisfy himself as to the purchaser's fitness to own a gun or rifle by receiving and filing the certificate above referred to. The article should be stamped and recorded as set out in (a) above before being used.

(d) No transfer or sale of any firearm between persons to be consummated without the same written authority.

(e) The pains and penalties for infractions of these rules to be dire enough to deter disobedience.

These or similar regulations would place sporting arms in the possession of those fitted to use them only and would the dangerous armed incompetents who roam at large through our woods and countrysides, a menace to themselves and everyone else.

Paschendale Ridge

Sir.—Allow me to make a few comments through your valuable paper. Well, in large letters you have "Taking of Paschendale Ridge by the Canadians" also in comment column that out of twelve shock divisions four were Canadian. Macmillan, to whom I have not spoken, I do not know, but I would look as if the British Isles were in the minority in the amount of troops in France; yet 84 per cent of the casualties were borne by Great Britain; 16 per cent of the casualties were what the remainder of the world did not know. You from figure, Mr. Editor, the number of men from different nationalities taken from the War Office to New York to count out the German propaganda against the English.

I sometimes wonder if the master of temperament does not play a great deal on the fire's part.

PREMIER PROPOSES ARREST OF EDITOR

QUEBEC, Oct. 31.—Rising on a question of privilege in the provincial House yesterday afternoon, Premier Taschereau moved, seconded by Hon. E. Caron, Minister of Education, that Jules E. Robert, editor of a Montreal weekly paper, The Axe, be arrested and brought before the bar of the Quebec Legislature on Thursday, November 3, to answer to a charge of "violating the honor of the Legislature."

The motion was in answer to an article published last Thursday in The Axe, a part of which was read by the Speaker. The article dealt with the murder of Blanche Garnier, a young Quebec girl, found dead about two years ago in one of the public places of the city. In the course of the article the words "names of two members of the Legislature" were used.

Rupert Halibut Catch PRINCE RUPERT, Oct. 31.—The halibut catch for October was 3,155,000 pounds. Rough weather at sea hampered fishing operations somewhat during the month.

The Mistake
That millions have corrected

As most folks know, brushing teeth in old ways proved most disappointing. Teeth still discolored, still decayed. Beautiful teeth were seen less often than today. Tooth troubles came to 49 in 50.

Millions of people, nearly all the world over, have found a better method. The glistening teeth you see everywhere now show one of the results.

All due to film

Most cloudy teeth and most tooth troubles are now traced to film. Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays there, food stains, etc., dissolve in it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the

Attorney-General Manson presents First Annual Report of Liquor Board—Over Half a Million to Be Distributed

The operations of the Liquor Control Board for the first year of its existence—from June 15, 1921, to December 31, 1922, inclusive—were reported yesterday afternoon by Attorney-General Manson, who presented the first annual report. Accompanying the report was a balance sheet showing the financial operations of the Board for the six months ended December 31, 1922. Receipts of the Board were $1,975,000, with stock on hand valued at $2,108,517, a falling off from the previous six months' period, when stock on hand totalled $2,333,306. Profits in the past six months showed a falling trend of about $150,000, while accounts receivable, according to the statement of Hon. Mr. Manson to the Legislature yesterday afternoon, as follows: Increased cost of malt liquors to the extent of about $61,000; a reduction in price of about $100,000; loss on warehouse licences of about $18,000; increase in Dominion duties, etc., of about $24,000; loss on claims charged at face value, about $5,000, and other minor items.

Mr. Thomas Uphill, Labor member for Victoria, asked the Attorney-General if he had just read the Attorney-General's statement in the afternoon paper before the Minister had taken the House into his confidence on the matter, a circumstance which, Mr. Uphill opined, entitled the public to some satisfaction. The Minister, in his hasty manner in which he had got the speech of the Attorney-General!

In submitting his report, the Attorney-General pointed out that out of the profits shown there would be approximately $500,000 still to come to the municipalities. In addition, he stated, the municipalities would appeal to the securing substantial revenue through fines and escheated bail. In this connection the report shows that in the past six months there have been 1,642 prosecutions, netting a total of $34,460 in fines, and $15,500 in bail collected. In the same period, fifty-two men were sent to jail compared with fifty-five in the preceding ten months. The cost of enforcement of the Liquor Act has been mounting, the report sets forth. In the past six months it totalled $60,412, as against $33,964 in the preceding ten months.

By a perusal of the report it will be noted that the advances to the Board by the Provincial Treasury were decreased some $200,000 during the half-year ending March 31 last, and by the further sum of $600,000 during the period ending September 30. Mr. Manson said.

There was distributed to the municipalities on December 16, 1921, $200,000, and on July 21 last, $600,000.

It is anticipated that there will be distributed to the municipalities very shortly the further sum of approximately $500,000.

In view of the fact that the provisions of the Act with regard to the distribution of moneys among hospitals by the municipalities has not worked out satisfactorily by reason of the fact that there are no hospitals in a good many of the municipalities.

It is recommended that the municipalities where there were no hospitals that at least one-half of the moneys earmarked for hospitals should be contributed to the hospitals.

BENY INTENTION TO UNDERMINE

Canadian Pacific Headquarters Contradict Suggestion Plan Is Directed Against Canadian National Lines

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—Reports current in railway circles here today and for which confirmation is lacking, indicate that Mr. J. Hungerford or Mr. C. A. Hay will join the staff of the Canadian Pacific Railway at an early date, says The Star today. Since the resignation of Mr. D. B. Hanna as president of the Canadian National Railways, Mr. Hungerford has been vice-president and general manager of the company. He was formerly president in charge of traffic.

In some quarters the rumor of changes was accompanied by the suggestion that this would be the first of a series of transfers by which high officials of the Government system would be taken over by the Canadian Pacific. At Canadian Pacific headquarters however, no definite plan was given the suggestion that plan is aimed to undermine the National Lines through the taking over here of important executives. It is suggested that a natural interchange of employees is quite inescapable, but that any plan of undermining is pure fiction.

INDIGENT PARENTS TO RECEIVE PROTECTION

New Legislation Introduced at Session Protects Children to Care for Parents

Important legislation introduced in the Legislature yesterday afternoon by Attorney-General Manson included a bill designed to provide for the maintenance of parents by their dependents.

The bill, to be known as the "Parents Maintenance Act," casts upon every son or daughter the liability for the maintenance of his or her dependent parents. A dependent parent may, by complaint to a magistrate, cause such son or daughter to show cause why an order should not be made for his or her maintenance. In any magistrate required to make provision for its poor and destitute, the municipality may, by a police officer, or in any other case by the Attorney-General, make complaint on behalf of the destitute parent and the magistrate may order the son or daughter to pay a weekly sum of money not exceeding $20.

Another act introduced by the Attorney-General provided for the maintenance of children of unmarried parents. By it every district registrar of vital statistics will notify the Superintendent of Neglected Children of every birth of every child born out of wedlock, and upon complaint made to him by the mother of the child, and stating the name of the person alleged to be the father of the child, the magistrate may demand that the putative father appear to show cause why an affiliation order should not be made against him.

There is a limit provided to the time within which such order may be made. In determining the sum to be paid to the mother the magistrate may fix such sum as will enable the child to be maintained to a reasonable standard of living. The above bills were given their first reading yesterday.

MASKED BANDIT GETS REGISTERED MAIL BAG

Holds Up Clerk Portage la Prairie
Post Office—Bonds and Small
Summs of Currency Lost

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Oct. 31.—A bag of registered mail of undetermined value was stolen from the Portage la Prairie post office early this morning by a masked robber, who had been sighted by J. H. Baker, with a revolver. The post office said that they expect to make an arrest shortly. The robber had made his plans carefully and they worked smoothly. The mail wagon was due at the postoffice about 12:45 a.m. with mail from Canadian Pacific and Canadian National trains.

Befores that time the bell at the side door of the postoffice was rung and when Baker opened the door the masked man pushed his way inside and flourished a gun, compelling the clerk's obedience to orders. Baker was told to admit the mail driver as usual and to receive the bags of mail.

The programme was carried out exactly, the driver putting a load of mail and departing without suspicion that anything was wrong. The bandit selected one bag of registered mail which had arrived on the Canadian National Winnipego-Calgary train and made his escape. Baker gave the alarm at once and the local police and mounted police took up the search.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—It is authoritatively stated here that there was no consignment of a large amount of money in the bag which was stolen from the Portage la Prairie post office.

The principal loss, it is believed, will probably consist of bonds and small sums of currency. Postal authorities stated it is impossible to estimate the loss until a full investigation is made.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Oct. 31.—An arrest in connection with the robbery of a bag of registered mail from the postoffice here early today was made late this morning, when Harry C. Dawlett, a former postal employee, was taken into custody as he was about to board a train for Brandon. Dawlett was arraigned in court and remanded for eight days, after refusing to plead.

Takes Hold of Duties.

Bentito Mussolini, the Fascisti head of Italy's new government, was in his office at 8 o'clock this morning to begin his active work as Premier. An hour later and his colleagues in the cabinet were received by King Victor Emmanuel, and individually took the oath of office.

The composition of the Mussolini cabinet and the chances it will have for commanding a majority in Parliament continue to be discussed and awaited. Premier Mussolini apparently counts strongly on the fact that his government is a coalition and that it may obtain carrying power in the chamber, but he has declared in an interview that if it fails to do so, parliament will be dissolved and the Fascisti will go before the country, where he is confident of winning.

With Signor Mussolini, the ministry, according to the latest classification, comprises five Fascisti, two Nationalists, three Socialists, one Nationalist, and one Liberal, with the addition of General Diaz and Vice-Admiral Thaon di Revel, who, being senators and also belonging respectively to the army and the navy, are not assigned to any specific party.

Accounts of Mussolini's appearance before King Victor Emmanuel yesterday when he went to consult over the formation of the cabinet, are bringing out some picturesque details. Mussolini was wearing his Fascisti uniform and his first words to His Majesty were: "I must apologize for coming before Your Majesty in my black shirt."

Good of Italy

Mussolini, who also wore a Sam Brown belt, puttees and each of the Fluo colors, added that he wished to present himself as representative of the national movement which had overthrown all obstacles in order to reconstruct the country for "which purpose," he went on, "I am Your Majesty's obedient servant."

The King and Signor Mussolini then shook hands, both pledging themselves to work together for the advancement of Italy.

Message to America

Premier Mussolini has sent the following message to Secretary of State Hughes at Washington:

"In assuming the task of government at the request of His Majesty the King, I am addressing to Your Excellency my thanks for the kind words you addressed in reply."

Mr. Neelands' amendment was seconded and carried.

The proceedings, the more it will be seen, will be interesting.

The introduction of opposition to any "rush policy" on the part of the government developed when Mr. Neelands introduced his amendment, following the completion of the speech by Mr. Kenneth Campbell, newly-elected member for Nelson, who seconded the address in reply.

Mr. Neelands' amendment was as follows: "That we humbly desire to express our regret that Your Honor has not been advised to refer to the widespread misery due to large numbers of the working class being unable to find employment, and to direct this Legislature to legislate promptly and effectively in the interests of the unemployed."

Rejection of Unemployment

Mr. Neelands' amendment, in support of his amendment, that the question of unemployment was so acute that it was remarkable that no mention had been made thereof in the speech from the Throne. Low wages, excess of people seeking employment, etc., were responsible, he stated, for existing situations, whereas those who objected to restriction in the hours of labor, it was their duty, he claimed, to offer a solution for the present condition of affairs. The speech from the Throne, he said, called upon the House to voice its thanks for prosperity, but what, he asked, had the unemployed to thank for the realization of a common victory?"

It is daily becoming clearer now all party lines are confused and obscured by the political strife.

Lloyd George and both the Conservative and Liberal parties are divided into opposing camps, leaving only the Labor Party as a solid entity with a defined programme.

A controversy has arisen with regard to the attitude of Major-General J. E. B. Seely, who is seeking re-election to the seat of Derbyshire.

General Seely today declared that he stood before party, that he was not a party man. Marshal Freeman, his former opponent, maintains that if the Conservatives support General Seely they must depend to some extent upon his support in court and remanded for eight days, after refusing to plead.

HENRY LABOUCHERE AS AN OFFICE SEEKER

Brilliant But Bitter Editor of London Truth Was Denied Post By Lord Rosebery

The late Sir Algernon West was a type of those private secretaries of high English officials that are a peculiarly English product. For generations, a private secretaryship has been a first step toward a political career. Earl Balfour, for instance, his private secretary to his uncle, the Marquis of Salisbury. West may be said to have been a private secretary all his life. He never sought high office, says The New York Times. He was a mere secretary to Sir Charles Wood and the like of secretaries, secretary to the former of the India office, then private secretary to Mr. Gladstone from his first Government in 1832 till his death. As well as the "aristocratic connections," long deemed suitable to the post, he had the tact, discretion, intelligence and knowledge of men always necessary to it; and the unflinching devotion to his chief. They were always together; and in Mr. Gladstone's last Government West's work was so arduous and important that a member of the Cabinet called him the "Deputy Prime Minister."

Tongue Costs Premiership His "Private Diary," lately published, contains many lights upon a considerable period of British political history. The hostility there revealed between the then John Morley and Lord Rosebery on the one side and Sir William Harcourt on the other was more or less familiar before. Sir William, with great talents, had a biting wit and an insolence of manner, too often visible in the House of Commons, and, in the Cabinet, almost intolerable. His tongue and his manner cost him the Premiership. Almost a legend of anecdotes has gathered around the great man's career. Sir Algernon only adds new material to the accepted version of a vivid and stormy career that failed from faults of temperament. But who would have expected to find Henry Labouchere, so long in Parliament and in the Treasury, the uncompromising assailant of pretty much every body and everything the cynical and highly gifted patrician radical, the critic of all Governments and of most policies, trying, so to speak, to realize on his "nuisance value?"

Blamed the Queen

Every member of Lord Randolph Churchill's little party of four got an office; but one would have supposed that "Labby," with his keen sense of humor, would have seen that he had gone in too far to expect to be similarly rewarded by his colleagues. Yet it seems that, not long after the accession of the Liberals in the general election of 1892, bigwigs of the party began to ask: "What shall be done for 'Labby'?" As member for Northampton he had acquired a great reputation in the House. Nobody could say he was an annoy to the government, and more brilliant and often offensive things. His paper at that time was famous and notorious. He revelled in libel suits. He clashed recklessly at dignitaries. In the House, Sir Algernon writes, he certainly possessed the power of making himself popular. In fact, he retained his seat below the gangway. On the other hand, the propounder and editor of Truth would have been a curious figure in a Cabinet, and it would have been hard to form a Cabinet most of whose members had not jabbed sharply at one time or another. So it was decided that he couldn't continue in "Labby," again forgetting his sense of humor, thought that Queen Victoria was responsible for his exclusion. Undaunted, he set to work to get some other place.

Yearned for Washington

He had served in the diplomatic service, perhaps the most irreverent of offices, for ten years. A part of this time was spent in Washington. A new Foreign Affairs post to the United States was about to be appointed. "Labby" resolved to go back. Perhaps he thought that he would be most at home among Americans, who appreciate humor and are not above speaking their mind about dignitaries. At any rate, he applied for the place. His colleagues, smilingly, decided he couldn't have been shown more delightfully. The Secretary for Foreign Affairs was then Lord Rosebery, whom he had lambasted unspuriously in Truth. But the Liberal majority was small, and Liberal whip in the House were eager to sentence "Labby" to transporation.

Blocked by Rosebery

One of them wrote to West that "It would be a grand thing to get 'Labby' out of the way next session. There is no one else in our case who is quite up to it with any success on our side."

Lord Rosebery wouldn't yield. It seems incredible, but Mrs. Labouchere not only wrote to Lord Rosebery, but called on him to induce him to change his mind. What can she have said? That "Labby's" stinging personal attacks were only "pretty Fanny's fits." "Labby," in spite of his wealth, was so rich and aristocratic a character that one had to see him in a position so unfortunate. Finally, Lord Rosebery had to write him that, after the copious abuse in Truth, it was impossible for him to offer either to "Labby" or for "Labby" to take office from him. Never in his life did "Labby" say anything so bitter as that. There are few queerer episodes in the always queer annals of politics.

NO RECIPROCITY WITH STATES ANTICIPATED

Chairman of Senate Finance Committee Points Out Tariff Act Makes No Provision

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—No reciprocal trade agreement with Canada is likely to be made, according to Senator McCumber, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. He points out that the Tariff Act makes no provision for reciprocity and that a special treaty would be needed. He doubts whether this could be arranged or referred by the Senate.

Senator McCumber does not believe the tariff law will seriously cut down imports and predicts it will not seriously divert Canadian trade from the United States.

PLAN INDEPENDENT BOARD FOR THE P.G.E.

Liberal Caucus Wrestles With Problem of Government-Owned Road—No Decision Reached

An independent board to administer the Pacific Great Eastern Railway enterprise and its recommendations it is hinted, which are to be presented to the Liberal caucus prior to an scheme of dealing with the Government-owned railway being submitted to the Legislature.

The idea of a board has been borrowed, it is stated, from the practice of the Ontario Government in connection with the Northern Ontario and Temiskaming Railways.

Last evening the Liberal caucus discussed the P.G.E. question, but because of the absence of the Government Party opportunity to voice their views on the future conduct of the line, no decision was reached, it was stated.

A REMARKABLE NEW TRAM CAR

It is an extraordinary fact that the tram car of the present day is in all its essential features very much the same as the first electric tram cars put on the road. The continuous evolution of design which has taken place in connection with motor cars finds no parallel in the case of trams. One reason is, perhaps, that the first tram cars were so admirably designed that the call for improvement was not urgent. Furthermore, the competition of other forms of road transport has stimulated the inquiry whether the standard tram car could not be radically altered with advantage. British engineers are paying very keen attention to this problem, and one of the most remarkable results is represented by a novel tram car now being undertaken by a British tram manufacturer. In this car, the back axle is split and is equipped with a double worm drive from two high speed motors suspended clear of the axle. Brakes of the drum type are fitted, and all the bearings are either roller or ball. A continuous frame carries the body of the car, the upper deck is made as easy as possible, and the height is being cut down to the least possible figure, compatible with safety and stability. The liveliest interest is being taken in this bold departure from standard practice and it is considered probable that tram car design in all parts of the world will be greatly modified by this British invention.

LATEST FLYING BOAT

A great deal that is published on the subject of aircraft achievements in various countries requires to be accepted with caution, for the simple reason that the field is such an important branch of national defense. Many of the developments taking place in Great Britain at least are being kept more or less secret. It has become known, however, that the British Air Ministry has tested a new 5-seater flying boat, which is claimed to make a distinct advance on previous aircraft of the kind. The boat is built in one piece, from stem to stern an arrangement which gives great resilience and enables the boat to ride at anchor. There will be no need to provide it with either a mother ship or an aircraft carrier. The accommodation for the crew is both adequate and comfortable, and armament includes machine guns and torpedoes to be provided. The speed of the new boat will be about 150 miles per hour, and the range will be over one thousand miles.

MANCHESTER BOASTS GREAT MUSIC LIBRARY

Founded Twenty Years Ago by Famous Musician, It Is Now Owned and Directed by Municipality

quently made use of by students and local societies, and sometimes in emergencies by professional conductors. There are also about 400 books and MSS. of a rare and curious character, including "Parthenia" (1611), the first piece of music printed from copperplate in England.

All sorts and conditions of men and women flock daily to the library, if you glance into the reading-room you will find men in business—conductors, the old and dusty after his day's duty, intent on the "Rhinegold," or perhaps some rough-spun warehousemen studying a violin concerto.

Many are the strange requests made at the borrowing counter, such as that of the gushing young things who asked to see "Our Fine Day," by Madame Butterfly, and the vocal score of "Carl Rosa," or of the young man who wanted "Three Dances from the German," a most apt title for its foundation stone!

The usual period of loan is 14 days, and every conceivable branch of music is represented. If your taste favors the music-drama, there are over 1000 works to select from, and, in the case of musical comedy, there are six or more copies are stocked. If you are in the habit of providing compulsory education for your next-door neighbor by means of a piano, you have a fair field of 2,500 volumes and 4,000 single copies of pianoforte music. You have, moreover, the choice of about 1,000 books of reference and biography, so that after you've won the music, you may study the temperament out of which such music was born, and thus carve out your own gradus ad Parnassum.

LIBERAL PARTY TO SAVE CANADA

Member for North Okanagan Sees Bright Future Since Political Organization He Supports Is in Power

With the Liberal party in power in British Columbia, and the same party recently returned to Ottawa, the future of Canada is assured, according to Mr. K. C. Macdonald, Liberal member for North Okanagan, to whom was assigned the honor of moving the motion for the address in reply to the speech from the Throne in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

The fortunate conjunction of party victory, provincially and federally, moved the member for North Okanagan to prophesies of future welfare of the Province and Dominion. He opined that under such favorable auspices the future of the people of this country is assured.

As is customary in the speech of the mover of the address, the life and works of the administration came in for full praise. The Te Deum was followed by Mr. Kenneth Campbell, member-elect for Nelson, whose maiden speech in the House was received with applause, albeit it was short and formed an appeal for "unity" in discussions.

Borders movement.

As chairman of the Liberal caucus and a member of the party whose loyalty and sagaciousness have been well proved, Mr. Macdonald skilfully skirted about contentious issues and his speech gave no offence. He saw that the Province and Dominion are gradually recovering from the quagmire of post-war conditions, and the people are looking forward with optimism to a greater period of activity and business rehabilitation, a result which, he argued, was due largely to the recent return of the Liberal party to Dominion politics. He said where the prosperity enjoyed under the Laurier regime would be repeated under the present Premier, to whom he paid a fervid tribute.

The member for North Okanagan paid his tribute to the new Speaker, Hon. P. A. Pauline; to the members-elect for Nelson to their new Attorney-General and to the new Minister of Public Works. He even extended congratulations to Mr. Bowler for the latter's election to the office of the leader of the Liberal-Conservative party in British Columbia.

Major Burde.—Why not extend your congratulations to the Premier. I understand he achieved distinction at "Jubilee" convention.

Continuing his speech, the member for North Okanagan referred to the recent statement by the Council of Their Excellencies, Lord and Lady Byng. It was a fitting reference in the speech from the Throne. Mr. Macdonald considered, to the effort of the Province, through the Premier, to secure better consideration for the Province in the matter of freight rates.

A Vital Issue.

"Never has a more vital issue been raised," said the member for North Okanagan, who believed that while the objective was not wholly obtained and the discrimination against this Province was not entirely eliminated, yet a very substantial reduction in general rates was secured and the excess of mountain rates over prairie rates was reduced on behalf of the people. He estimated that the amount of advantage to the Province has already amounted to at least two million per annum, and this was only the beginning. The cost of fighting the case—recently the Province paid Mr. G. O. McGregor, K. C., $4,000 as part of his bill an counsel for the Province—would be small compared with the results secured, Mr. Macdonald opined.

"Mr. Speaker, my memory goes back to the claims for better terms for British Columbia, an issue on which not only the members of the Legislature of that day were a unit, but the whole people, and this too, in a clear-cut and fair treatment of the Province, and I stand on a basis that must appeal to the sense of fairness and justice of those in authority. I am sure that the appeal, which is in course of preparation, to His Excellency the Governor-General-in-Council, will result in the equalization of freight rates with the Western emulated to," declared the member for North Okanagan, who paid a tribute to the efforts of Premier Oliver in securing justice for the Province.

The member for North Okanagan was sharply critical of the Conservative senators in the Federal House, who he alleged were responsible for the defeat of the proposal put forward by Attorney-General MacKenzie to secure federal legislation prohibiting private importation of liquor into British Columbia, thereby, he declared, defeating the aim of the Government to oust the bootleggers.

"The Government of the day tried to make me take this question of liquor control out of the realm of party politics, and surely there are sufficient issues upon which we may divide and criticize each other without selecting one that is so closely and inseparably bound up with the welfare of the people. This question, Mr. Speaker, was placed in the hands of a committee in 1919 by the then Attorney-General and leader of the Government, the present leader of the opposition, without regard to politics, for solution.

Prohibition.

"Out of that action came the enforcement of prohibition with its many attendant evils. The Government, true to the pledge given by the then Prime Minister, resubmitted this question to the electors, with the result that by a substantial majority they voted for the sale and control of liquor by the Government. It was not liberalism alone that placed the Government in this position. The Legislature, without regard to party, supported the Government, the elected representatives of the people, without regard to party, owe it to the people whom they represent, owe it to the good name of this Province, owe it to the people of this Province, to do all in their power to make the will of the people as effective as possible. Having done that, then if those in authority fail to do all that is reasonably possible to enforce the law, it will be time for criticism. I am not asking for anything unfair. I believe I voice the wishes of the vast majority of the people of this Province when I appeal for support to make possible the enforcement of the statute law of this country."

Mr. Macdonald pointed to the fact that the Minister of Finance, in his prognostications at recent sessions that the Canadian dollar would get back to par, had proved a true prophet, and he declared that the opposition members would be quite as delighted as Government supporters at the fact that the critical forebodings of the opponents of the Government on this point of adverse exchange rates would not prove true. In fact, he suggested, the time has arrived when there should be a close season declared by the public men of the Province on "this damaging and trrauding [sic] their own country," and they should "get their backs to the wall and tell the world something of the potential wealth and the future possibilities of the Province."

Summarizing the efforts of the Government to develop the natural resources of the Province, the member for North Okanagan eulogized the land settlement policy, pointed to the increase of settlement consequent upon policies of the Government to attract settlers, and cited as evidence of the success of such policy the fact that agricultural production in 1921 showed an excess over mineral and fisheries production of $17,723,683, that the value of the fruit crop in 1921 was $6,604,000; dairy products showed an increase of $4,654 pounds, with a total output of 2,521,002 pounds of a value of $6,596,208; egg production showed an increase of 290,677 dozen, with a total production of 4,448,167 dozen, and a value of $1,838,585; forest crops, an increase of 6,364 acres with a total production of $43,688 tons, and a value of $1,300,000; and other figures. Not the least pleasing of his review, stated the member for North Okanagan, was the fact that imports decreased, the total standing, in 1921, at $20,742,223. Imports from other provinces aggregated $18,329,473, and from foreign countries $6,640,943, while exports of agricultural products, more than balanced imports. These figures, Mr. Macdonald opined, showed that British Columbia is making great progress in its basic industry.

Progress Scored.

The progress being made in the Sumas reclamation scheme and the South Okanagan settlement scheme were referred to by the member for North Okanagan in glowing terms, and he said Mr. H. H. Stevens, whose reported statement in 1911 that sixty per cent of the appropriations for roads was spent on machinery, a statement, he claimed, which was quite incorrect, for outlays on plant and machinery had totalled to but 3.3 per cent in 1920-21 and to 2.9 per cent in 1921-22, and that the amount of travelling expenses, office supplies, district engineers, assistant engineers, clerks, bridge inspectors and general foremen, as well as inside supervision of the general office in Victoria amounted to 6.29 per cent in 1921-22 compared with 10.33 per cent in 1911-12.

In concluding, the member for North Okanagan expressed the belief that the Province could easily finance the University of British Columbia project by floating a loan without placing any additional burden upon the ratepayers of the Province, by pledging as security the 3,000 acres of land at Point Grey which would be available to meet the cost of the expansion of suitable buildings and the cost of removal of the institution to Point Grey. He favored the appointment of a committee to go fully into the whole project, and he believed that a domino loan could be easily floated to meet all legitimate outlays. The University, he declared, is no longer in theory, but a condition, and one that must be met.

Nelson's Member.

In the first place Mr. Kenneth Campbell, of Nelson, voiced his pleasure at associating himself with the congratulations which his colleague had so happily extended to Mr. Speaker, to the Attorney-General and Minister of Public Works.

"Coming as I do, more or less reluctantly from my constituency to a place in this House, I may, perhaps, claim to know somewhat of the minds of the people in my riding, and one interest above all else in this House, that is to see that the condition of the working men is improved in every possible way. I am, therefore, particularly gratified to learn from the Speech from the Throne that measures are to be introduced to extend and supplement that admirable work now done by the Workmen's Compensation Board. I trust that the benefit now granted will be substantially increased, in accordance with the repeated requests of the Workmen's and Liberal associations through the Province."

Emphasizing the need for encouragement and proper development of the mining industry, Mr. Campbell pointed out that this not only affected his own constituency, but those of honorable friends opposite. A vote of high optimism was struck at the mining convention held in the City of Nelson last summer, he said. He was glad to say that the present trend and development of progress in mining led him to conclude that this optimism was not misplaced. In this connection, he referred to the fact that up to the present time, this year, 250,000 tons of ore were mined and treated in the district referred to. He could only ask the Government of which he was a supporter to lend its best and constant support to the mining industry generally, and to the prospector, particularly.

Prizes

The member for Nelson congratulated the Minister of Public Works for the thorough and efficient manner in which he was carrying out his programme of road development in the interior of the Province. He referred to the heavy forest fire loss

OCTOBER WEATHER

Month Was Wet and Cloudy, Although Milder Than Is Usual At This Time of Year

October was a wet month and a cloudy one, according to the statistics for the thirty-one days released last night by Mr. F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Gonzales Heights Meteorological Station. The month, however, was slightly milder than usual in temperature.

The mean temperature was 51.7 degrees, being one degree above the average for October. The highest temperature was 67 degrees on October 2, and the lowest 39 degrees on October 29. The lowest temperature on the grass was 35 degrees on the same date.

The total rainfall for the month amounted to 2.10 inches. The average October precipitation is 2.73 inches, so that the month's rainfall was .37 of an inch above the average. Rain fell on fifteen days, so that fully half the month was wet.

The total of sunshine for the month was 124 hours and 24 minutes, which was 8 hours and 42 minutes below the average. On ten days there was no sunshine at all.

"WAY DOWN EAST" TRUE MASTERPIECE

Pretty Bucolic Story of Humans
Has Most Astonishing Thriller
in Climax

"Way Down East," the film at the Capitol Theatre this week, is a human story, humanly told, and one that lies close to the heart. It was written years ago by Lotta Blair Parker and was one of the late Joseph Conrad's greatest successes. The picture, New England countryside in setting, the barn dance in Winter, not forgotten, the reception at the home of one of Boston's 400, are all most delightful.

"Way Down East" was selected by Griffith, who was obliged to pay a tremendous amount of money for the rights, because of the great interest of the tale. It is the story of Anna Moore, played by Miss Gish. Anna goes to her rich aunt in Boston to borrow some money. Her aunt, a tall, thin, strict Lenox Sanderson son, a young man about town. He asks her to marry him, but she arranges for a mock marriage. After the birth of her baby, which unfortunately dies, she goes into the country to seek work. She is given something to do on the farm of "Square Eddick," where she meets the hero, David. When the squire learns through a village gossip, of Anna's past, the poor girl is turned out into a storm. David denies his father and follows Anna into the snowdrifts. And then comes the scenes that simply must be witnessed to be believed—possibly the most remarkable scenes in the history of cinema. Anna from a moving block of ice in centre of a big river, whose surface is one mass of moving floes. The perilous position of the girl is accentuated by pictures showing the ice blocks as they pile and grind at the brim of a wretched boat, and then go tumbling over into the abyss. The scenes are by far the most wonderful scenes ever produced in a local theatre.

The film is another tribute to the fertile brain and wonderful genius for organization possessed by Mr. Griffith, the producer.

DOMINION Hollywood, Cal., has lost one of its laurels. The Southern California suburb no longer has the largest pro rata of actors, according to population. Strangely enough, the honors have been captured by a small community—many hundreds of miles removed from the film centers of the world, Jackson, Wyo. Here is how this situation came about: Charles Maigne, directing Mary Miles Minter and Tom Moore in the Paramount picture, "The Cowboy and the Lady," which comes to the Dominion Theatre all this week, took his company to Jackson to fit the exteriors scenes for the picture. During his extended stay, most of the activities were in and about the community of Jackson, which is a town of some four or five hundred persons. In some of the large crowd scenes, many residents were used. Several of the sequences were taken, and before the work was finished, a number of men, woman and child in Jackson had become an actor. And now, out of a city of four hundred, there are possibly fifty or sixty people who haven't worked before the motion picture camera. Which, comparatively speaking, puts Hollywood in the shade!

PLAYHOUSE For real up-to-the-minute topical entertainment Playhouse Show Number Seven, to be presented for the first time tonight, will surpass anything yet produced here. The scene of the potted comic opera is situated alongside of the Pyramids on the Nile, where the English are represented by a brand new troupe imported direct from New York, and for which the people have been made to pay a cool hundred drachmas. Brimful of tuneful music and bright comedy, this show will be found one of the best tonics for that blue feeling resulting from the excesses of the previous night. As was reported at this theatre, the treatment will prove a popular one. Preceding the potted opera will be vaudeville turns consisting of a comedy presentation by Bob Webb, followed by two delightful song numbers by that winsome little miss, Marie McLaughlin, and concluding with an extremely funny one-act playlet, entitled "A Shot in the Dark," in which the characters are T. J. Goodlak, D. Dumbleton, Agnes Stuart-Robertson and Vivian Coombe. The cast for "The Wizard of the Nile" is perhaps one of the strongest that has yet been presented and includes Gracie Fields, Bob Webb, Reginald N. Hincks, Jack Gilligan, Dave Dunbleton, Eva Hart, Agnes Stuart-Robertson, Dorothy Sohl, Marie McLaughlin and Gipsy Switzer.

COLONIAL Rosemary Theby, who enacts the role of "The Queen of Dreams" in the William Fox all-star production, "Shame," which is drawing big crowds to the Columbia Theatre, was a busy person just before she took over the part of this picture. She was engaged by Fox to play the Queen in Mark Twain's story, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," another big William Fox production. When she was asked if she would also take part with Louise Lovelace, then a Fox Star, in "The Little Grey Mouse," "But I can't play two different parts at the same time," she protested. "The Queen in the 'Yankee' is something of a villain, and the Queen in 'The Mouse' is also a villainous part. The moods are similar. Only, the clothes and the make-up are different." So Rosemary slipped from one set on the Fox lot to the other. Anyons visiting the studio would go away with the idea that Rosemary, Rose and Mary are popular persons. For while Rosemary was acting for one director and his assistants would be looking for her, some calling "Rosemary," some "Rose," and others "Mary." She is spied in "Shame."

ROYAL VICTORIA It looks as though "The Crossroads of New York" will approach if not part all the success of Mack Sennett's feature, "Molly O." The picture has been found, probably, to the patrons of the Royal Victoria Theatre this week, because of the wide range of the amusement it supplies. It is neither all-comedy, nor all-drama, nor all-romance, but it combines sufficient of each element to give a complete entertainment. Noah Beery, Guy Oliver, Eddie Murphy, McQuire, Charles Murray, Billy Bevan, Eddie Gibbons, Ethel Grey Terry, Mildred June, Dot Farley, Ben Deesley, Herbert Standing and Robert Cain are just a dozen of the well known players in the cast. Incidentally, the author himself wrote the story and supervised the production, which was carried out under the direction of F. Richard Jones, who made "Molly O."

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—A pioneer of Manitoba, Mrs. Irene Kolodis, is dead at her home at Foley, near Winnipeg, forty miles north of here, at the age of 80 years. Her husband, who died twelve years ago, had also passed the century mark, dying at the age of 101. She was a native of Austria and a resident of Manitoba for more than 25 years.

Tom McKnight's superb production of this cleverly written musical comedy is an outstanding proof of the contention that Canadians can present just as entertaining theatrical concoctions as they usually import from London and New York.

"Everygirl" is a musical play, by with-and-for-Canadians. The story is of that of a Canadian girl in the flapper stage of her development. The composite life of most any girl is emulated in "Everygirl," and a musical revue in two acts and sixteen episodes describing the various phases of her growth, which has been contrived by the authors, George Gwynn Garret and Tom McKnight.

Among the cast of Canadian favo rites are Pat Rafferty, Judy Davis, Pauline Harvey, Wee Dorothy, Babe and Edith Mackay, and many others of note.

SHIPPED FROM MAINLANDPassenger Sailing by Ship for London—Eight in All From British ColumbiaThe big Royal Mail Steam Packet
SS. Cardiganshire will not be coming to Victoria this voyage. The vessel came in from sea Monday night and passed on to Vancouver, where the Victoria cargo will be landed for transshipment here. She has about 30 tons for local consignees, all general freight. No liquor was brought by her for export on this trip.Outward the Cardiganshire will load at Vancouver and Seattle, grain from the former port and apples from the latter. Eight passengers from Victoria and Vancouver will sail for London. They are Miss E. Jones, Mr.
and Mrs. G. McIntosh, Miss Darley
Mrs. Farren of Victoria, and Miss Morton, Mrs. Gyles and Mr. A. Watt of Vancouver.Findly, Durham & Brode, local agents, report the R.M.S. and Holland-American ships in the following positions: The Glamorganshire left San Francisco October 22 for Liverpool, via Vancouver and Hong Kong;
the Loch Katrine left Glasgow October 19; the Narenta, through the Canal, sailed from Balboa for Pacific Coast ports on October
20; the Nebraska reached Portland October 29 and load for Southampton and other British ports; the Dint-onshire, leaving Victoria, for San Francisco en route to London and the continent; the Esmond sailed from Hamburg October 21 for the Pacific Coast;
the Kinsdale left the Panama Canal October 22 for London and the continent; and the Mordijk sailed from London October 11 for the Pacific Coast.The Bank Line SS. Haleric is due on Barkay Sound early next month to load about 3,000 tons of herring for the Orient. She is for the Dominion Herring Company, of Vancouver.The rate from the Board is 15¢ per ton, so the loading of 3,000 tons will mean the loss of the handling to the costwise lines. In the past practically all herring has been sent to Vancouver by coasters and then loaded on the deep sea ships. It is estimated that a considerable saving in freight is realized by loading on the sound.SHIP HERRING FROM enter American waters recently arrived in New York. This was the Legie, a steel screw steamer of 5,735 gross tons, which came from Hamburg, one of the ports allotted for the use of Czechoslovakia. The Legie was owned by the Bank of Czechoslovak Legions, the history of which organization is as extremely interesting one.During the war a large number of Czechoslovak troops fought in Germany, at one time holding the whole of the Transylvanian Railway, and after the war had made good use of some considerable time they observed the idea of founding a bank by means of which the money they saved from their pay could be sent home.

Their plans were eventually carried out in 1920 and the Bank of Czechoslovak Legions was established by a number of men who had made good use of the time they had available in Germany. The Legie is due in Eastern conditions. The result was that the bank prospered, and when the troops were eventually recalled, it was in a very sound financial position. So much so that, although the headquarters were transferred to Prague, a branch office was left behind to keep up the business connections formed. At that time, two years after its formation, the paid-up capital amounted to 70,000,000 crowns.
Taking the tide of success at the flood,
the directors decided to embark upon the wireless enterprise, and so they bought the Japanese cargo steamer Taikai Maru and renamed her the Legie. At first the only voyages made were between Hamburg and the Far East, where the bank's interests were
